PAID THE FIDDLER.

A San Francisco Firm Accused of Smuggling Goods.

PUTS UP THE SUM OF $76,000.

And Civil Cases Brought By the Government Are Dismissed.

An Inspector Loses His Job on Account of the Trouble—Indictments By the Jury.

Associated Press Dispatches.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—The sum of $76,000 has been paid into the treasury department by the firm of Neuberger, Keiss & Co., members of which were indicted for smuggling. This sum is supposed to be in satisfaction of the claims of the government against them and it is believed the civil suit will be dismissed. The case dates from last September when a case of goods consigned to the firm fell from a dory and burst open, revealing smuggled goods. The entire consignment was seized, as were several subsequent consignments, and nearly all proved to be falsely invoiced. Nearly all invoices received by the firm during the year were inspected by S. M. Coshin, deputy collector, who has been dismissed for alleged complicity in the smuggling.

HEAVY LITIGATION.

Fourteen Suits Filed Against A New Jersey Stock Yards Company.

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The controlling interest in the old Union Stock Yards company was bought a year ago by an English syndicate which paid $25,000,000 for the stock. The company was reorganized under the laws of New Jersey, with a capital stock of $25,000,000. Since then it has been in much trouble. Armour, Swift and Morris, the big three, were heavy holders in the old company, and sold out at a high rate. They then set to work to withdraw their business from the New Jersey company, or force them to grant them reduced rates on handling their cattle. As a result, a contract was made by which the New Jersey company agreed to pay $3,000,000 to the big three, and later, to restore things to their former status. Today fourteen suits were filed to prevent the carrying out of this contract, claiming that it was merely a device to create illegal discrimination against other stockmen.

ON HER ROAD TO DWIGHT.

A Woman Stops at Battle Creek for the Last Grand Drunk.

BATTLE CREEK, Mich., Dec. 19.—A pretty and respectable-looking woman, who gave her name as Isabella Kone, was picked up on the streets this morning in a beastly state of intoxication. When she partly recovered this afternoon, she refused to make her home known, but she said she was on her way to Dwight, to be treated for imbecility, and stopped at Battle Creek for the last grand drunk.

Before imbibing she deposited several hundred dollars in a bank for safe keeping, but the thirst for drink became too strong and she had to withdraw it and spend it all for drink. Her conversation and manner betokened a liberal education. She left for Dwight tonight.

Another Whitechapel Tragedy.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A shoemaker named Mair, living in the Whitechapel district, last night murdered his mistress by horribly cutting her with a sharp knife. A sensational newspaper made another "Jack the Ripper" murder, and there was great excitement until the truth was known.

SHOT HER LOVER.

Mrs. Josephine Smith Shoots John Hobbs.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 19.—Mrs. Josephine Smith, 25 years old, this afternoon shot and killed John Hobbs in the Powellton avenue station of the Pennsylvania railroad. The cause is not known, but it is supposed that they had been intimate and that Hobbs was weary of her. Mrs. Smith's maiden name was Madison.

The last spike of the Morristown and Cumberland Gap railroad, was driven at noon yesterday. The road extends from Morristown to Corrytown, in Tennessee, a distance of forty miles, and there connects with the Knoxville, Cumberland Gap and Louisville railroad.

The Western Freight Association has authorized a rate of 15 cents per hundred pounds on silver ore from West Superior to Chicago when the ore is originally shipped from Montana to West Superior for smelting. This rate, which is the same now in force on low-grade bullion, will become effective December 10.

THE RIO GRANDE

WILL PUSH ITS LINE THROUGH TO SAN FRANCISCO.

Estimates Now Being Made as to Its Cost—The Proposed Route of the Extension.

Associated Press Dispatches.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 19.—The statement is made here that the Rio Grande & Western is contemplating an extension of its line to this coast and that the estimates are being made as to the cost of the construction of the road now touches the confines of Nevada, and that the legislature of that state has offered a subsidy to any line that will traverse the state.

Entrance into California over the Sierras could be effected by way of Beckworth pass. The rails are laid through a considerable portion of the pass and it is stated that the Rio Grande could acquire this property without difficulty. From Beckworth, pass routes to San Francisco are feasible, one passing down the Sacramento valley, the other following the coast more closely, reaching tide-water just north of San Francisco.

Snow in California.

Sisson, Cal., Dec. 19.—It commenced snowing last night and snowed at intervals all day with heavy winds. The snow is one foot deep. A heavy north wind is blowing tonight, with indications of clear and cold weather. All trains are on time.

State of Siege in Russia.

LONDON, Dec. 19.—It is reported that a state of siege has been declared in various famine-stricken districts of Russia, owing to the prevalence of brigandage and anarchy among the starving peasants.

A New Railroad Surveying Outfit arrived yesterday, also a large shipment of holiday goods at St. Claire & Pratt's.

ONLY A MOONBEAM.

He Went Courting and Fell in the Ditch—A Timely Rescue.

A few evenings since, as a young huckster was crossing the town ditch, he mistook a moonbeam for a foot, bridge and stepped into the rapid stream. The water being but two feet deep the danger was slight, but the mud being soft he presented an appearance as though he had used his Sunday clothes to mop a mud hole.

About this time a friend came along and asked him what was the matter. After some hesitancy he stated that at regular intervals he crossed this ditch to call on his best girl, and that on this occasion he was starting home with high hopes and thoughts of love, when all of a sudden he went to the center of the ditch and waded out with cooled anger and reflective reality.

LITERARY NOTES.

What Late Publications Have to Say on New Subjects.

Pueblo, Colorado, has a new illustrated monthly named the Cactus. The Christmas number of the Illustrated Californian, published in San Francisco proves to be an exceptionally fine number. Considerable space is devoted to Arizona.

"A Fixed Idea" is the leading story in the Argonaut of December 14. It is by Miss Alice S. Wolf, who wrote "The Call of Duty: A Story of a Duel," which appeared in the Argonaut a few weeks ago and attracted wide attention. It, also, is a very striking tale, showing how the husband of a wealthy woman, himself a victim of the craze for drink, first inherits the taint of madness, and then leads her to resort to the same liquors that have been his curse. There are few writers of short stories who can so cleverly develop a psychological story, and her characters are drawn with the firm, bold strokes that denote the artist.

The Gazette Changes Hands.

This morning the Gazette passed into the hands of Hon. Sam Webb, who became sole proprietor. R. E. D. Robinson continues in the editorial department, which he has filled for some time with credit. Mr. Webb is a leading citizen and democratic politician, and promises to make pronounced improvements in the paper.

MILLS TURNED DOWN.

Asked to take Second Place on the Ways and Means Committee.

BUT HE WILL NOT HAVE IT.

And Declines to To Serve on That Committee in Any Capacity.

The Texas Statesman Addresses a Sarcastic Note to the Man From Georgia.

Associated Press Dispatches.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Speaker Crier addressed a letter to Mills yesterday, asking whether he would accept the second place on the ways and means committee and accept the chairmanship of the commerce or some other committee less laborious.

Mills replied: "Having been a member of the committee on ways and means for ten years, and chairman in the fiftieth congress, reasons which have in your judgment rendered my chairmanship unwise, would disqualify me for service in any other place on that committee and it would not be sincere to say that it would be agreeable to accept. I leave it to you, without any suggestion from me, to make such other assignment for me as you may determine."

THE ROSSEN CASE.

Matters Will Probably Stand Till the Quarterly Meeting in January.

The passage at arms between the county treasurer and board of supervisors is at status quo and will probably remain in that lethargic condition till the regular quarterly meeting of the board in January. It will be developed then whether the treasurer declines to accept the board or the board declines to accept the treasurer. The law especially states that the percentage allowed the treasurer and ex-officio tax collector shall not exceed 3 per cent nor go below 2 1/2 per cent. And it further empowers the board to regulate the same. If the board maintains its present stand and the treasurer declines to accept, a suspension of the latter will probably result and the question will go up to the courts for settlement. There is simply a difference of opinion, but the difference which exists on reducing an excessive salary will meet with the general approval if legally taken.

Quite a good deal of sickness is reported in various parts of the city; the principal complaint being influenza or grippe. People of all ages and sexes seem to suffer alike with this epidemic. There has as yet been but few deaths and the most severe cases seem to be young ladies and aged persons.

D. Nicholson, who left for Texas last week on a telegraphic summons, announcing the serious illness of his father, found him much improved. On his return he was overtaken by a telegram at El Paso announcing his mother's death. The Republican extends sincere sympathy.

H. R. CAMPBELL.

THE AGENT OF THE LOAN COMPANY OF LOS ANGELES.

Probably the Victim of Unfortunate Circumstances—He Will Undoubtedly Prove His Innocence.

It often happens that circumstances are misleading. The unfortunate affair in which H. R. Campbell, representing the Imperial Loan and Trust company of Los Angeles was mixed up, seems to have been such a one.

THE REPUBLICAN has given the case in hand a thorough and careful search, both here and in Los Angeles, and is satisfied, from the showing made, that Mr. Campbell is a man of high character, his entire innocence of any crooked work in the transactions in question, and that he was the victim of a combination of circumstances over which he had no control.

The Imperial Loan is an organization in which the laws of California are backed by some good men. The amount of capital at their command is not known to this concern. Mr. Campbell is their duly authorized agent—so acknowledged by wire from the company's officers, and substantiated by written notice, and authority which he carries. Moreover his letter of instructions is minute and business-like. It authorizes him to collect the first month's assessment on stock, and this assessment belongs individually to Mr. Campbell, as a commission for his services.

There is no instance brought to the knowledge of THE REPUBLICAN where the gentleman has varied from these written instructions or exceeded his authority, or collected more than was due to him. In several cases he has not collected the full amount he is entitled to.

According to Mr. Campbell's statement, just before his departure, he had reason to believe that the company had changed its plans about doing business in this territory, and consequently the money which was to be forthcoming on loans would not materialize. If he acted in good faith, and under these instructions, he certainly would not be to blame for any delinquencies on their part. As the matter stands, the Imperial Loan company of Los Angeles is responsible for all contracts made by Mr. Campbell and will have to carry out the letter of instructions which he has been sustained against. He is entitled to the sums collected and the Loan company will be looked to to fulfill their part of the program.

The serious mistake, in our eyes, which Mr. Campbell made, was in not stating "to the music." While it would have been unpleasantly warm for a short time he would have been completely vindicated, as we trust he will now in the end.

SOCIAL COLUMN.

An Unusually Large Social Grist This Week.

CHRISTMAS PAST AND PRESENT.

Charming Affair in the "Intricate" Tea.

Mrs. Masten Gives a Matinee Tea—Social Brevities—Stag Whist—Personals.

The "Intricate Tea" given in the Gibson block last Tuesday evening by the ladies of the Episcopal church, was the most brilliant society event of the season. The whole affair was novel and most unique. Considerable merriment was occasioned in giving orders for the Tea, from the menu offered, but when delicious sandwiches were brought for "women of grit" and appetizing chicken, for the "neighborhood convention," the question was decided that every mystery would bring forth a feast of good things, and one was safe in ordering even "stale jokes." The Mother Goose feature, of the entertainment was a decided success, and the ladies having that in charge must feel amply repaid for all their trouble, and deserve great credit for the good taste displayed, both in costume and adaptation of characters—Mother Goose was represented by Mrs. B. Heyman, and she looked as dainty and handsome as though she had just stepped out of a picture. About thirty young ladies and ladies appeared in costumes, and some of them most beautiful, and all of them quite appropriate. The grand march was led by Mother Goose herself, after which each character was called upon to repeat their rhymes.

The dances followed in which they all sang the Mother Goose poetry set to music. At the Bag table which was an other novel feature, the ladies reported everything sold at an early hour. The receipts must have been very satisfactory.

Christmas Past and Present given in the opera house on Friday evening by the ladies of the Baptist church, proved to be a descriptive cantata, rendered by some of the leading voices in Phoenix. It was unfortunate that "Rebecca" was so decidedly out of voice, caused by a severe cold, as so much depended upon that character. The different trionts and choruses were well taken, and the costumes were appropriate and well chosen. Part 2 was more of the nature of a "tableau vivante" as the conversation was carried on in so low a tone as to be almost inaudible to the audience. The whole conception of the cantata was fine and as they were requested to repeat it next Monday evening, the ladies may congratulate themselves on its being a success.

Even in shoes a woman must watch what style suits her best, for there is a great difference in the shoe that is becoming to one woman and that to another. The Queen Anne shoe, with its long instep, flat and broad Irish diamond buckle, is a very fashionable model, designed to be worn with tea gowns and other dressy home toilettes, but the shoes and low sandals of undressed kid, simply wrought with steel and steel heads, are far more graceful. The style of one's foot must be carefully considered and your own individual taste called upon as a safeguard. How pretty a dainty foot looks in a black undressed kid shoe, while an ungainly foot would look thrice as awkward incased in such a shoe.

Mr. and Mrs. Titus came in from their ranch near the orange orchard on Friday and report the mercury at their place during the cold snap as low as 17°. Mr. Titus is energetic, and not at all discouraged over the recent loss of his house by fire and will soon have an elegant brick residence to replace it. Mr. and Mrs. Titus make valuable acquisitions to the social world of Phoenix.

Puritan collar, flaring at the throat, curving across the shoulders and falling in a square at the back finish the sweetest Greenway models for the little tots. So charmingly are small maidens garbed this season that even the plainest child cannot fail to look picturesque at least.

Mrs. C. S. Masten gave a very enjoyable matinee tea last Friday afternoon in honor of Mrs. Tickrill, of Beatrice Nebraska. The lady is enjoying the delightful winter climate of Arizona, and with her husband and two children, expect to remain here for some time.

There was considerable gaiety in society circles last week, in fact much more than we have had for some time. A resume of what has taken place recently and announcements of coming events in the near future are appended.

"Stag" whist parties seem to be a new feature in social circles. Such an innovation will not work gentlemen; it requires the charming presence of the dear ladies to render even a whist party popular and successful.

One of the brilliant events that is eagerly being looked forward to is the hop to be given next Wednesday evening by the Fortnightly club. Invitations are already issued, and it will undoubtedly be a "swell" affair.

The A. O. U. W. have in contemplation an entertainment in the near future, at which some of our local talent will be invited to participate.

Chateaux of ribbon, anchored here and there with rosettes, in which is nestled a gold butterfly, are a whim of the moment.

The Fortnightly club has issued invitations for a hop to be given at the opera house, the evening of the 23rd of this month.

If rumor is correct we shall have some weddings to chronicle soon—keep this a secret.

DARLINGTON'S CASE.

THE DOCTOR MAKES THE PROPER AMENDS BY MARRIAGE.

He Believes He Was Indiscreet But Had None But Honorable Intentions—The Herald's Statement Unauthorized.

In the case of Dr. Darlington, published in yesterday morning's paper, the doctor has some statements of his own to make. Darlington says he probably was indiscreet, but claims that his attentions were paid to the young lady at her mother's home. He states likewise that his resignation as surgeon of the Copper Queen Co. was not forced, but voluntary. The doctor further states that he came from New York several weeks ago and arranged with Miss Ham to be married on his return from Bisbee. This arrangement was with the mother's consent. The doctor says that his attentions have always been honorable, and he certainly has taken a step in the right direction. Mr. and Mrs. Darlington leave shortly for New York, where the doctor has accepted a position and THE REPUBLICAN trusts they may realize their aspirations for future happiness.

Dr. Darlington's statement, made in an obscure evening print, with side thrusts at this newspaper, were not authorized by Dr. Darlington.
